

An aerial photograph of a rugged coastline. In the foreground, a cliffside is covered in green vegetation and features several stone-walled ruins, possibly remnants of a fort or settlement. A person is visible walking on a path among the ruins. The middle ground shows a steep, grassy cliff that drops down to a small, sandy beach. To the left, a prominent sea stack rises from the ocean. The water is a vibrant turquoise color, with white foam from waves crashing against the shore. The sky is a clear, bright blue.

FIRST CLASS
HOLIDAYS

Cape Peninsula